

Pronature Holistic now with peas!

A healthy and effective fiber source for dog and cat diets

Peas are more popular than ever, in pet nutrition as well as in human health and food trends! Here are a few of their advantages:

- Low in fat
- Hypoallergenic
- Gluten free
- Low glycemic index:
This is substantial for diets intended to help control blood sugar and diabetes and is also effective in treating and preventing obesity.
- High in fiber:
Made of approximately 20 to 25% fiber, they help regulate intestinal transit.
- Low ash and magnesium levels:
Excellent for cat food formulas!
- Eco-friendly:
Because peas are legumes and fix nitrogen in the soil, they are considered a tool in sustainable agriculture strategies.

Dedicated to pet health and well-being, we simply keep going that extra mile to make sure cats and dogs eat nothing less than the very best that nature can provide.

SOURCES

1. "Pea fiber: a functional petfood ingredient"; Greg Aldrich, PhD; Pet Food Industry; December 6, 2010.
2. "Peas in petfood"; Greg Aldrich, PhD; Pet Food Industry; March 26, 2010.
3. "Scientists cook up pea-based dog foods"; Lynne Gunville; University of Saskatchewan – Western College of Veterinary Medicine; March 9, 2011.
4. Marroquin Organic International:
www.marroquin-organics.com/product-category.php?id=5&keywords=Pea_Products
5. Pulse Canada: www.pulsecanada.com

Pronature
Holistic